HIGH WIND IS BENEFICIAL

JUAREZ TRACK DRIES OUT MORE RAPIDLY UNDER ITS INFLUENCE.

Dust Flies from Surface While Racing Goes On at Mexican Course, but Soil Is Still Wet Underneath—Only One Favorite Wins.

El Paso, Tex., January 5.—A high cold wind swept over the Juarez course today, but it was greatly beneficial in drying out the track. The dust was flying from the surface while the racing was going on, but the track remained quite damp beneath. Selling plates continued to monopolize the card. The most promising race of the day was the fourth, in which six sprinters of fair caliber ran five and a half furlongs. Fitzgerald was installed first choice, but when it came to the running of the race, Miss Annie, from the stable of J. Randolph, made a show of his opposition from start to finish and won uncontroverted by half a dozen lengths. He was a well supported second choice.

Howe, who scored in the opening race, was the only winning favorite. Tight Boy, Petit Blen and Vireo were winners against which long odds were laid.

Messrs. McKinney and Corrigan left tonight for their mines at Terrazas, Mex., to spend a few days. On their return they expect to remain here one week.

Jockey A. Collins and R. Carter indulged in some rough riding during the afternoon and the stewards suspended each of them for five days.

RACING IS HEARTILY APPROVED OF.

New Orleans Newspaper Gives Editorial Expression to Local Ideas Respecting the Sport.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune prints the following editorial on the subject of the revival of racing now in progress at the Fair Grounds track in that city:

"The opening Friday of a season of forty days' racing, given under the auspices of the business men of New Orleans, was an auspicious and encouraging. No one has ever doubted that the people of this city as a whole like racing—the community is and has always been fond of sport of all kinds. The races given in this city long before the Civil War were the most important, the best attended and the most famous in the Union. The record of the Metairie Course still lives in the memory of old horsemen and stands prominent in the history of racing in the United States; and the meetings held here then was not only a great social event, bringing many thousands of visitors to the city, but it unquestionably stimulated the racing of fine and blooded stock in this section.

"But this ancient glory passed away in the course of time; and when racing was revived here, it was under different auspices and conditions. The races were successful, it is true; they drew to this city immense crowds and they stimulated a number of interests. It was easy enough for us to show that no city was as pleasant as a winter residence as New Orleans; that none could attract and care for as many visitors so well. Unfortunately the gambling element of racing was carried too far, and its demoralizing influences were felt in many directions. The legislation took action in the matter of gambling, as did those of other states, and for the last few years racing has been stopped here as elsewhere. There was, however, a strong sentiment in favor of a restoration of the races under different and better conditions and especially under the control of honest people, who understood local conditions, whom the people knew and in whom they had confidence.

"This has now been brought about. The races opened on the beginning of the year with an excellent attendance, which ought to be good through the entire season. The spirit is of an exceptionally large winter tourist travel in this direction; and this travel will probably be increased by the races which will furnish an additional attraction for visitors who like the sport of kings.

"There need be no fear that we will ever drift back to the conditions that closed our race tracks a few years ago. Those in charge of the present meeting know public sentiment on this point too well to make such a mistake as to arouse the opposition that developed to the old style of gambling on the race tracks. The country press, which was so active in the campaign against the gambling feature a few years ago, now approves the new meeting and expresses the hope that it will be a success. The way seems safe enough if the managers keep in the road, as we all believe they will."

President Benjamin, Secretary Joseph A. Murphy, in summing up the success of the Business Men's Racing Association's move to restore winter race meetings to the Crescent City, is quoted as follows:

"No one can long doubt the sincerity and earnestness of the local association which is composed of land-headed business men, who have clean racing bridges people here and thereby revivify business, and I see nothing but success ahead. Already we have 500 horses at the track, an ample number to make the meeting most satisfactory from every standpoint. All of the races, I think will be well filled, and the success of these meetings will compare favorably with that elsewhere. In fact, I don't believe there will be anything lacking to make the racing most enjoyable throughout. And the crowds have already begun pouring into New Orleans from the east and northern cities.

President Benjamin, Secretary Hart and members of the executive committee, Messrs. Pecker, Campbell and Michaels, are also elated over the splendid start of the meeting, and are confident that it will hold all lines of business here during its continuance. Said Director Pecker: "The Business Men's Racing Association is not operating this meeting for the sole purpose of making money for itself, but in order to bring wealthy tourists and visitors of means to New Orleans and thus benefit the merchant, the hotel man, the boarding house keeper, and show these visitors, at the same time, what a great city ours is."

GOSSIP FROM BLUE GRASS REGION.

Louisville, Ky., January 5.—France, the eight-year-old brown mare, by Ben Brush-Fair Vision, has been added to Wickliffe Stud at Kingston Farm, Price McKinney having purchased her from Gallop Bros. today for $5,000.

Julius Bauer of Chicago, arrived here today to look at some horses in training at the Kentucky Association track.

Barney Schröder and John B. McLaughlin are making preparations to go to New Orleans this coming week.

Frank Taylor is expected here from New York in a day or two and it is said he may close options he holds on several horses. He has already purchased the Star Shoot, Mary Tallot two-year-old colt from Gallahue Bros. for $5,000.

At a meeting of the Blue Grass Fair Association stockholders today, Louis Leo Haggen was elected president; Sewell Combs, vice-president; John Balm, secretary, and John G. Cramer, treasurer.

SUCCESSFUL AMERICAN JOCKEYS OF 1914

J. McTaggart, who first rode in 1913, will go down in the annals of the turf as the leader among American jockeys of 1914. McTaggart made such a promising beginning in 1913 that it was predicted at the end of that year that he would carry off the honors of 1914. He has done so by a narrow margin over J. McAlley, one of the old timers who seems able to ride as well as he ever could. McTaggart is a New York lad and a younger brother of Tommy McTaggart, who rode in this country for several years with marked success until he was suspended in 1913 for rough riding, to which practice he was unfortunately addicted. The champion rider of 1914 was developed by and is under contract to Hugh Penny, a capable rider himself in his day and now a successful trainer of the racing thoroughbred. McTaggart's record for the year might have been better but for some shortcomings which his employer sought to correct by declining to permit the lad to accept mounts for a considerable period in the latter part of the year. As a result of this suspension of his riding opportunities McTaggart came near losing the distinction of being the year's leader. In fact, he regained the lead when his employer permitted him to resume riding only because McAlley, who had meanwhile displaced him from first place, retired for the year at the close of the Maryland meetings in November. McTaggart stood fourth among the jockeys of 1913, with a record of 151 firsts out of 459 mounts, which gave him a percentage of .24. His record for 1914 is 157 firsts out of 487 mounts and a percentage of .26.

The following tabulation covers the record of the leading American jockeys in each year from 1895 to 1914:

Year.	Jockey.	Mts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Unp.	P.C.
1895	Perkins	762	192	175	129	264	.25
1896	C. Reid	822	202	192	86	342	.25
1897	H. Martin	803	173	152	116	362	.21
1898	T. Burns	973	277	213	149	334	.28
1899	T. Burns	1,044	273	173	266	352	.26
1900	McIntosh	854	195	140	139	380	.23
1901	W. J. O'Connor	1,047	253	221	192	381	.24
1902	Rauch	1,069	276	205	181	407	.26
1903	Fuller	918	229	152	122	415	.25
1904	Hildebrand	1,169	297	230	171	471	.25

McAlley, who stands second to McTaggart, had 824 mounts during the year, of which he piloted 155 to victory and thereby earned a percentage of .19. McAlley is under contract to James Fitzsimmons, who has developed several successful riders in his day. In 1913 McAlley did not ride much, being kept out of the saddle for a considerable time on account of sickness, and his record for that year was forty-seven winners out of 232 mounts. McAlley won more money for those who made use of his services in 1914 than went to the credit of any other jockey.

J. Butwell stands third among the jockeys, with the excellent percentage of .25. Butwell has ridden with marked success for many years, but has never succeeded in heading the list in respect to the number of winners piloted for 1914. He generally confines his riding to the warmer weather and the other that his riding weight will not permit him to accept mounts prominently. The past year he was under contract to the important stable trained by William Garth.

J. Smyth, an apprentice who showed more than the ordinary amount of skill for a beginner; W. W. Taylor, contract rider for Senator Camden's stable; F. Murphy, who was developed by T. J. Brown; J. O'Brien, whose riding was confined to the far west, and A. Mott, another far western rider, make up the rest of the list of jockeys who piloted more than 100 winners.

The best showing in percentage among those who rode any considerable number of mounts stands to the credit of C. Borel, who won with twenty-four of his sixty-eight mounts and has to his credit the remarkable percentage of .35, which is a striking tribute to his ability. Others with high percentages are J. Russell, .28; J. Loftus, .27, and J. Notter, .27.

In all, 450 jockeys had mounts on the recognized tracks of the United States, Canada and Mexico during 1914 and the record of the 137 who piloted ten or more winners is as follows:

Jockey.	Mts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Unp.	P.C.	Won.

REXOUNT PROBLEM BECOMING ACUTE.

With horses serviceable for rexount purposes leaving the country at weekly intervals, at the rate of 1,500 and 2,000 a shipment, the question of a supply to meet the requirements of the United States army is once more being seriously taken up by the government officials. The authorities have come to the realization that the horses which are shipped to France for the allies are of the type called for by the National Remount Association. The fact that such large quantities are being exported has made it necessary that some action be taken toward looking after the needs of the army in this country, as the supply is being greatly diminished. —New York Times.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

In his recently published "Reminiscences," the prominent trainer, S. Darling, attributes the deterioration of the English thoroughbred to inbreeding to Gallop and St. Simon.

Leonidas, the imported American-bred stallion, which was represented last week by the pony winner St. Leon, is now doing stut duty at Mr. R. H. Dargatz's place, "Neotsfield," Whittingham. The pony mentioned is his only representative in training in Australia. His present list of foals at "Neotsfield" are of high class, and as he is a direct descendant of Lord, and was a high class performer, breeders might do worse than pay him attention next season. —Sydney Referee, December 2.

NO VIOLATION OF THE LAW

GRAND JURY MAKES INVESTIGATION OF CONDITIONS AT NEW ORLEANS.

District Attorney Announces That There Is No Ground for Interference with Betting as Carried On in the Palm Garden at Fair Grounds.

New Orleans, La., January 5.—An announcement made today by District Attorney Luzenberg to the effect that he had summoned the grand jury to hear evidence from the police relative to the betting in the Palm Garden at the Fair Grounds and that the jurors had decided that the present method of wagering is not a violation and therefore that there is no ground for an indictment overshadowed the sport itself and was welcome news to the numerous turfmen and followers of racing gathered here. The grand jury hearing was held at the district attorney's request. Part of the district attorney's statement is as follows: "I believe that the way to make legitimate racing in New Orleans a success is to prevent the violation of the law. So far no evidence has been produced to warrant the returning of an indictment."

As it is the intention of the management to adhere to their present policy of conducting the sport, it is almost certain that all obstacles in the way of possible interference have been removed and that the racing will be carried through as per schedule.

Another good crowd was in attendance to witness the sport and action in the Palm Garden was keen. The card was an ordinary one, but furnished an entertaining sport. Only two favorites, Useit and Garneau, were successful during the afternoon. Both won in handy fashion. The two-year-old scramble was the best race carded and resulted in a victory for Dr. J. S. Tyree's filly, School for Scandal, which beat out Blackie Daw and Sands Diamond. Clumatti, winner of the inaugural juvenile scramble, was fourth. He bore out badly on the first turn and the penalty he was asked to carry because of his former success contributed to his defeat. The winner was benefited by an inner post position which gave her an advantage over the others at the stretch turn.

Rodondo again proved a disappointment when Cloak led him home by half a length in the second race. Our Ken was a supposed "good thing" in this race, but a poor sendoff brought about his undoing. Useit was by far the best of the starters in the third race and Garneau had little difficulty in the fourth race. Broomedge started out in the fifth as he would spreadeagle the others, but McEne overtook him in the last sixteenth and won by two lengths. The favorite, Love Day, was caught in a bad turn and had no chance to show himself. The closing dash furnished a rousing contest which Gallant Boy and Beau Pere fought out through the length of the stretch. Gallant Boy just managed to last under a good ride by the diminutive Truquart. It was the latter's first winning in City Park.

Today's visitors included Edward Corrigan, Samuel F. Heaslip, and C. S. Bush, a trio of former prominent factors in New Orleans racing. Mr. Bush was identified with the Fair Grounds and helped materially to put New Orleans on the racing map. Messrs. Corrigan and Heaslip were interested in City Park.

Jockey Mordogast was suspended for six days by Judge Murphy for returning to the weighing in scales a pound and a half over his declared weight on June W., which started in the second race. W. G. Yankee sent word today from El Paso that his string of twelve horses would arrive here next Saturday and that he would reach here at the same time.

Colonel James arrived this morning from Charleston and will remain for the rest of the meeting. Messrs. Yeager and Ryan will depart tomorrow for Havana for a brief stay before returning to New York. They will revisit New Orleans later and stay for Mardi Gras.

DANNY MAHER IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The Durban paper, "The Latest," says that Danny Maher, who is visiting South Africa with his wife, on a health trip, will winter at Sir Abe Bailey's place, Arnold Cape, as the guest of that gentleman. The great jockey, as generally known, has had a most severe illness, and has, in fact, only recently recovered. Married quietly in consequence, he planned a continental visit, but on medical advice was recommended to try the sunny clime of South Africa. The paper quoted adds that shortly after his arrival Maher witnessed some racing at the Slank End, and was to go north for the big racing on the Rand at Christmas, but not to ride, although it would give infinite pleasure and be a special source of attraction to thousands if Maher could be seen riding the winner of the South African Derby. Perhaps the wish may be fulfilled, but, failing that, the Johannesburg Autumn Handicap, at a later date, may be made the medium of his re-appearance in the saddle, as a fitting conclusion to what all sportsmen, north and south of the line, are sure to be a permanent health cure, as the result of his trip to the sub-Continent.

JUVENILE WINNERS OF 1914.

In the racing of 1914, Ogden was represented by the quite remarkable number of winners, winning two-year-olds. The nearest approach to this was Cesarion's eighteen two-year-old winners in 1910. This noted sire of precocious speed was also the leader in 1911 with fourteen winners. In 1912 Star Shoot and Marta Santa divided honors with fifteen each and in 1913 there was a quadruple tie in which Marta Santa, Dick Welles, Star Shoot and Yankee each were responsible for fourteen. It is really quite a remarkable circumstance that of these 118 winning two-year-olds, not one in a hundred was a failed high rank in racing, although a considerable number of them raced in fairly good form and still are competent to do so. In Ogden's list of 1914, such as Paris, Polish, The Flim, The Masquerader, Mars Cassidy and Harry Junior raced so well against good class opposition as to suggest a different state of affairs hereafter in that regard so far as he is concerned. Aunt Josie was a good filly, but the suggestion of probably having been raced too much attaches to her. Next to Ogden was the Ayrshire filly Peep o' Day, with fourteen winners to his credit, of which Ed Crump was his best money winner and quite a good colt. It may be, however, that as a racehorse Peep was his best representative. Star Shoot had thirteen sons and daughters that won with the fleet but in some measure erratic filly, Sea Shell, his chief money earner. The star shoots are generally hardy and improving creatures, so it will be no surprising matter if they should prove a real star. There was suggestion of something of the kind in the form in which he raced near the close of the year. Yankee sent out twelve winners, among which the filly Kaskaskia won for herself recognition as one of the best two-year-olds of the year. No other sire had as many as ten winning two-year-olds but Celt, Golden Maxim and Peter Quince, each sent nine to the races, including such good ones as Copette, Luke, Chalmers and Metcalf. With eight each, among which Ed Howard, Sir Edgar and Sharpshoot, raced with considerable distinction. Sires with seven winners each were Boanerges, Marta Santa, Oddfellow, Plauditt and Voter, the latter including the splendid and fast colt Half Noon and the fast filly Clumber. Those with six winners each were Burgomaster, Galveston, Martinet, Out of Reach, Stalwart and the now dead The Commoner. It will be observed that such two-year-old stars of the year as Regret, Comet, Trojan, by Jure, Trojan, Last Coin, Garbage, Pebbles, Brig's Sister, Kilkenny Boy and Emerson Cochran owed their paternity to sires but sparsely represented in comparison. The sires favored with two-year-old winners, numbers, dams, races and money won, are here given:

(CLAN) 1st, after racing in nearest pursuit from the start, took the lead and stood a hard drive gamely in the stretch, but just lasted long enough to win. BEAL' HEER ran a good race and would have won but for coming whif into the stretch and losing ground. MARSHON was badly outpaced for the first half and came with a rush through the last quarter. CASSOWARY set a good pace, but tired after showing a good turn of speed for the first three-quarters. SERVICEENCE ran fairly well. The winner was entered for $350; no bid.
